

All About In-Office Plans

WHAT ARE IN-OFFICE PLANS?

In-office plans aka dental membership plans give dentists a way to directly connect and provide value to patients without the need for insurance companies. With in-office plans the patient pays the doctor or dental office a fixed amount of money monthly or annually. In return, the patient generally receives selected services at no additional charge, with other procedures offered at a discounted fee.

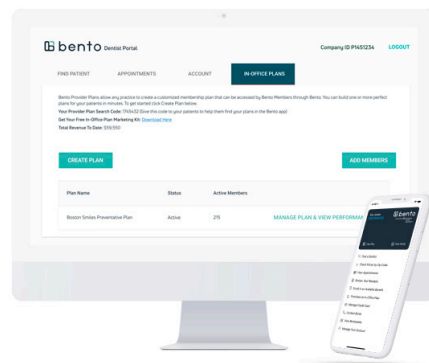

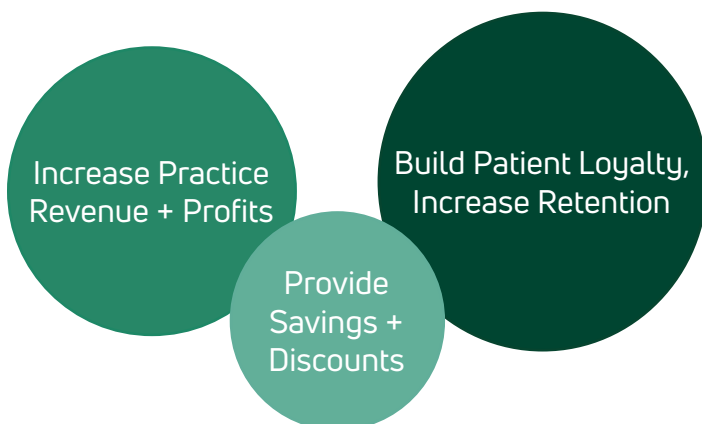

In-office plans create re-occurring revenue for your practice, increase profitability and decrease dependence on insurance companies.

No insurance? No problem. If your patients one of the 120 million Americans without access to traditional dental insurance, you can now provide them with an affordable oral care option.

To see if an in-office plan is right for your practice check your local and state laws and schedule a meeting with Bento to learn more.

WHY SHOULD YOU OFFER A PLAN?

Reduce dependency on insurance companies by enabling your practice to provide value and premium services directly to patients with in-office membership plans.
