Join Master Cicerone®, Averie Swanson in a guided tasting of five beers representing five different beer styles. Averie will discuss the difference between each style as well as the science behind beermaking.

Averie Swanson is a beer lover and mixed fermentation enthusiast. In the early 2010’s, after a few years of clinical research in the NICU and a few months of field research in the Australian Outback, Averie decided to do something entirely different with her science education—she set her sights on fermentation and moved into the exciting world of brewing beer. She is the Founder and Beermaker of Keeping Together in Chicago, IL, and co-owner and former head brewer of Jester King Brewery in Austin, TX. Averie is one of nineteen people to have earned the certification of Master Cicerone®, and is recognized world-wide for her contribution to farmhouse brewing.
