The online CE course Dentistry in Long-term Care: Creating Pathways to Success can help you expand your practice to nursing homes, assisted living facilities, and senior centers. With the rapid increase of the population over age 65, extending care to these settings is a great opportunity to expand your practice, keep your patients throughout their entire lifespan, and take care of their families too.

Currently, more than 1 million nursing home residents face the greatest barriers to accessing dental care of any population group. Older Americans are also keeping their teeth longer and developing dental problems as they become dependent on multiple care systems for a variety of needs.

Providing dental care to nursing home residents makes a difference in people's lives and can be personally and professionally rewarding for dental professionals.
